What is PyConES?

PyConES is the main Python conference in Spain.

After four successful editions in Madrid, Zaragoza, Valencia and Almería, the fifth edition of PyConES will be held from 22 to 24 September 2017 in Cáceres following the format of the global PyCon event (<http://pycon.org>). The conference will take place at the Cáceres conference center and will be organized by a joint effort between the Python Spain association and the local community.

The event

PyConES is a three-day conference where professionals and Python programming language enthusiasts share their experience through many technical talks. Because of its nature, PyConES audience come not only from tech sectors like web development, business intelligence or game development but also from the academic world, being useful for many teachers and researchers. In this edition these tracks are being considered: web development, art, GIS, ERP, visualization, devops, security, core (language), science, data science / big data, education.

Some numbers

In last edition of the PyConES (<http://2016.es.pycon.org/>) featured:

- More than 400 attendees.
- About 40 speakers. Besides all the conferences are published in “Python España’s” YouTube Channel, getting almost 70000 views and 1400 subscribers.

The host

With 22.600 squared meters of auditoriums, exhibition and auxiliary rooms, the conference center is the perfect place to hold a conference like the PyConES 2017. Its multipurpose halls and common areas allows to have auxiliary setups around the event (for recruiting and sponsoring). Its excellent location between the train and bus stations, and available public parkings in the area make the Hall of Congress a very accessible place to hold national events.

The city

Cáceres is a city which will make the attendees to fall in love with its old town, which was declared a World Heritage Site in 1968. Cáceres is one of the main business and tourism centers in Extremadura. The fusion of its more than two thousand years history, the amount of places of interest, an university with a strong support of IT and its excellent location make Cáceres a place that don't leave anybody indifferent.

The city of Cáceres has about 95.000 inhabitants but with its hotels, hostels, rural housing and apartments it can host about 270.000 visitors per year.

Why to sponsor?

Sponsors make this event happen.

Sponsorship allows us to offer more affordable tickets in order to enhance participation and attendance. It makes feasible to record the sessions the talks to reach a bigger audience.

Sponsors help the whole Python community by fostering competitiveness and inclusiveness. It makes Python development more interesting for professionals and companies.

Visibility and recruitment

Sponsoring companies get visibility and positioning. PyConES is the best place to find the most qualified Python developers in Spain. The Business lounge will be located close to the places where talks will be held. Having a booth in our business lounge will give your company the opportunity to increase company visibility, showcase its products, find talented professionals for recruiting and integrate with the python community.

About the organization

PyConES is an initiative of Python Spain association, a non-profit organization established in 2013 by volunteers around the country. Its aims are to promote the use of Python programming language in Spain, to be a meeting point for people interested in it and to support them to the best of their abilities.

This edition is possible thanks to the local community in Cáceres, which consists of volunteers and associations that are doing their best in order to make the conference a great success.
